become front line troops. Convoy commanders must then become tacticians. How to study war? The student of tactics studies previous fights and mentally places himself in the position of the participants. Knowing what they knew, how would he have reacted? In hind sight, what was the best course of action, remembering that there is no one perfect solution? Any number of actions would have succeeded. The tactician must learn what would have worked best for him. For this reason, I have pulled together all the examples of convoy ambushes. The 20th century, Vietnam War, and current war in Iraq provide a wealth of examples of convoy ambushes from which to study. Unfortunately, the US Army did not record many good accounts of ambushes during the Vietnam War. Much of what is presented in this text is based upon oral interviews of the participants, sometimes backed by official record, citations or reports. For this reason, some of the ambush case studies present only the perspective of a crew member of a gun truck or the convoy commander. Since this academic study works best when one mentally takes the place of one of the participants, this view of the ambush serves a useful purpose. After my own review of the ambushes, I have drawn my own conclusion as to what principles apply to convoy ambushes.

Marine Corps Reference Publication (MCRP) 4-11.3F, Convoy Operations Handbook, addresses the fundamental principles required for the planning and execution of Marine air-ground task force (MAGTF) convoy operations. This manual provides an overview for convoy planning, organizations, and movement fundamentals, procedures, and techniques. MCRP 4-11.3F provides a source of reference for commanders and their staffs on convoy operations and functions in support of the MAGTF. Specifically, it gives general planning requirements, support requirements and considerations, and procedures. MCRP 4-11.3F consolidates and expands existing convoy operations doctrine and supersedes portions of Fleet Marine Force Manual (FMFM) 4-9, Motor Transport, (1992); FMFM 9-1, Marine Corps Tank Employment (1982); and FMFM 6-9, Marine Artillery Support (1993).

This first story is about the historic missions done by Combat Airmen in Iraq during Operation Iraqi Freedom II in 2004. These Airmen went into Iraq untrained under the control of the U.S. Army for the first time since WW II. However, they persevered and overcame the many barriers they were constantly faced with in a war ravaged country.

Although these Airmen felt as if they were at times abandoned by both branches of military they were called to serve, they pulled together and fought for each other in hopes of returning home to their country and loved ones.
